Hi Kacey,

There's a change in timing of the NAMs conference webinar which I was just made aware of. Hope it's not too late... The timing should be 9:30am to 3:00pm.

Thanks,
Lauren

Hey Lauren – can we just include the event page link since it links to the webinar and includes the code?

Hi Kacey,

I realized we will need to include the access code for folks to register. I've added that and the hyperlink to the event page below:

Hi Lauren- Our blurbs are usually only 2-3 sentences. If all of this info is on the event page, can we shorten to this?

Hi Kacey,

Here is a blurb for Science Matters and the Compass on the NAMs Conference. It's a compressed version of the attached write up that Monica circulated earlier in this chain. I plan to push the event page for it live on Monday and will send you the link. For now, I've highlighted where it should be hyperlinked:

We can include a link to the registration in the next SM (Dec 10). After that, we won't have on until Jan 21. Michaela Burns is working on a general NAMs article right now- maybe that can be linked to the meeting.

If there is one going out next week, we could include the announcement in it. If not, we could have an article about the workshop following Dec. 17. Not sure when the next SM will be distributed.

Hi Lauren,

It looks like we have been cleared to send the attached announcement about the NAMs workshop webinar through our EPA OCSPP and ORD listservs next week on December 10. In preparation for the announcement, can you please draft the following comms materials? If others have suggestions on comms materials that are needed please share with the group. OCSPP will also be distributing through their listservs so we can share with them the materials we develop and will need to coordinate.

- Draft a webpage off of this site - <https://www.epa.gov/research/efforts-reduce-animal-testing-epa> – with the announcement about the NAMs workshop.
- Prepare an email to send to appropriate ORD listservs/email lists on Dec. 10 announcing the workshop and directing people to the above website to register for the webinar. Here are some suggested ORD listservs (there may be others), CSS Pathways list, include in Research Compass if possible, ORD CompTox Communities of Practice email list (Sammy can distribute on the 10th).
- Draft social media content to announce the NAM workshop webinar, aiming to release Dec. 10.
- Other ideas?

Monica
